The docu"I shall do just as I did before," he deshelves of the Senate document room, which usually attracts very little attention, and is persistently avoided by the members of the higher branch of Congress. The document is the annual report of the Secretary of the Senate. It contains the corroborative evidence of the oft-repeated charge that the Senate of the United States is an extravagant body, as every expenditure, no matter for what purpose, is given a place in the catalogue.

The present volume sets forth the fact that it cost the Government $1,347,011.96 to pay the expenses of the Senate from July 1, 1898, to July 1, 1899, which embraced the last session of the Fifty-fifth Congress.

The first item in the report is the monthly payments made to the late Garret A. Hobart, which foot up for the year $8,600 The compensation and mileage of Senators makes a grand total of $509,331. Then salaries of officers, clerks, messengers, and others in the service of the Senate, amounts others in the service of the Senate, amounts to $466,258. One month's extra pay is allowed to these employes under the deficiency bill, approved, July 7, 1898, which amounts to $43,789,17. One month's extra pay is also allowed to these employes under the deficiency bill approved March 3, 1899, and the total amounts to $50 692. The 1859, and this total amounts to $50,002. The salaries of the Capitol police are given in the report as $34,670.

Disbursements in Detail.

The detailed disbursements from the contingent fund make somewhat interesting reading. Under the head of stationery and newspapers, $16,375 was spent. The postage bill amounted to $75. For the Senate horses and wagons, $5,000; fuel and heating ap-

Some of the more curious items follow: Some of the more currous items follow: Senator George Gray, for commutation of al-lowance for stationery and newspapers, $16.41. Senator John L. McLaurin, for commutation of allowance for stationery and newspapers, $82.94. Senator James McMillen, for commutation of allowance for stationery and newspapers, $52.94. Senator George Turner, for commutation of al-lowance for stationers and newspapers, $56.55. Senator J. I. Raydin, for commutation of al-lowance for stationery and newspapers, $66.26.

Some idea of the cost of a Senatorial funeral may be had from the following items in the funeral bill of the late Sena-tor Morrillo.

c, $10; red codar shipping case, $30; eming and service of undertaker at Washing-$50,00; attendance of undertaker to Montages, $25; carriages, $108.50; bearse, $16; to al, Pennselvania Rairboad Company, $2,041.67, ading commissary supplies of $78.96.

Each year the Senate buys quantities of furniture for its committee rooms, etc. The supposition is that these rooms have always been furnished, but the record of old furniture that is disposed of is entirely Inconsistent with the amount of new furni-ture that is supposed to replace the old. Last year $15,806 was spent for new furni-ture, while only $53 worth of old furniture was disposed of. Repairs to furniture cost $2,337, and furniture cleaning cost $2,885. For folding documents $2,041 was expended. Under the head of "materials for folding" $1,663 was spent. The packing boxes used amounted to $970.

Items of Odd Character. Under the head of "miscellaneous items" all sorts of things are charged. One Senator has made the Government furnish him with a "pass case," presumably to carry his railroad passes in, while on De-cember 21, 1898, Z. D. Gilman furnished the Senate the following articles, as set

Many pages of the report are taken up by an itemized account of the telegrams which Senators sent at the expense of the Government during the year. Notable in this list is the record of former Senator Quay, who, on March 18, 1898, sent at the expense of the Government 240 telegrams to persons in Pennsylvania. About half of these despatches were sent to persons in

MINISTER IN A PRIZE FIGHT. Rev. Dr. Axtell's Methods of Spreading Temperance Doctrines.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 12.-The Rev. J. J. Axtell, a Congregational preacher, and Gus Dondero, a shloon-keeper, fought five rounds in a prize ring at Royal Oak to settle a controversy growing out of Sunday sales of liquors. The preacher had the better of it, but the referee called it a draw. Another battle will be fought in the near future.

The Rev. Axfell, co-operating with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, had been making it uncomfortable for saloon-keepers, and they decided that the minister must prove his prowess in a fist fight or they would ride him out of town on a rail. they would ride him out of town on a rail. He was visited by a committee and told that he must fight or be branded as a coward.

Pastor Axtell replied that he was not a coward and did not want to fight, but if they insisted he would put aside his priestly dignity and accommodate the man they se-lected to defend the saloons in the arenu. Gus Dondero was chosen. It was agreed the fight was to be with gloves for points.

CUTTING TURNIP TOPS.

Labor Imposed Upon Aged Confed. erate Veterans at a Home.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 12 .- A score of RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 12.—A score or dormitory apartments all day yesterday to more of Confederate Veterans, in gray uniforms, industriously cutting the tops off the growing turnips, was the sight which caused many who were passing by the Soldiers' Home, near Richmond, yesterday to stop and gaze.

A petition was presented a few days ago to the legislature, signed by some veterans of the home, alleging bad treatment on the part of the management and praying that the legislature appoint a committee to look into their grievances and redress them. The names of the veterans signed to this petition caught the eyes of Commandant Charles P. Bigger, of the home. Early yes-terday morning the entire list was detailed as a turnip top cutting squad.

Colonel Bigger did not say that it was in-tended as a punshment, but the veterans constructed it that way. As soon as all the tops of turnips were out they came to town and told their story to the legislature. The body has decided to investigate the home.

His First Idea Was to Fight With Rapiers, But the Washington Mar Preferred Nature's Weapons-The Epinode to Be Investigated by Dean Wright, of the Faculty.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 12.-Dean Wright, of the Yale faculty, will have be-fore him today, Lewis Paul Brown, of Des Moines, Iowa, and James Mandeville Carlisie, of Washington, then two juniors whose fistic duel on Saturday is the topic at the University.

It turns out now that Brown's first idea was to fight with raplers, and that he consented to fight a twenty-round go, when sented to fight a twenty-round go, when Carlisle said he preferred nature's weapons. He has a black eye ag a result of the battle, and Carlisle is carrying one hand in a sling. Brown was found last night by a reporter, and made a plain statement regarding the event over which hundreds of undergraduates are so excited that some of them predict a duel with lethal weapons in the near future. "I feit," Brown said "that Carlisle had insulted me in several ways. His setting fire to my hair with a match, in the classroom, was not my only grievance. I challenged was not my only grievance. I challenged him to meet me with any sort of weapons. He preferred fists, and we fought it out in that way, until a lot of students hooke in. Then I declined to fight before a

He suspected at that time that Carlisle was at the bottom of the plot, but could not ascertain beyond doubt just who was the leader. He was very indignant, and said he would meet the man with rapiers if the plotter would declare his responsibility for the outrage. From other sources more of the quar-

The notice to the suspected men from Dean Wright orders them to submit to an unreserved statement of the facts in the case. This statement will be considered by the faculty committee on discipline, who will then decide whether or not the accused men must appear before the faculty in person. The divorce evil seems to grow with every year. 7,500 divorces were granted in the State of Ohio last year. We agree that there are faults on both sides, but the great problem is: Are those faults remediable? To a great extent there is no doubt the conditions which result in divorce may be remedied. Given a dyspeptic husband and a wife suffering from female trouble and we have the ready made elements of a divorce case. In view of the facts there can be very little doubt that many women look forward to divorce only because they seek relief from obligations they do not feel fitted to fulfill. Women are not to blame. They have looked forward to their home life as a dream of paradise. Then disease comes like a serpent and destroys all happiness.

Women who suffer with debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration, female trouble and bearing down pains, will find certain relief and cure in Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It so invigorates the organs peculiarly feminine and regulates their functions that they are established in a perfectly healthy condition. The old lightness of heart comes back; there's light in the eyes and a smile on the lips. The old irritation and nervousness are gone, and the husband comes to his home as a haven of rest and comfort.
